✓ Emory B. Flower, a member of the Bar of Crawford County. Entered Dec 5, 1927.

Pro. Speeley 3.00

Dec 5, 1927. The memorial prepared by the Committee of the Bar Association was presented, and read in open Court by J. Berry Eckels, Esq., of the Committee of the Bar, and after remarks by several members of the bar, it was ordered that the same be filed and and spread at length upon the record, and that a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased. Per Curiam.

Memorial

To the Honorable Thomas J. Prather, President Judge of the several Courts of Crawford County:

The Committee appointed by the Bar Association of Crawford County to prepare a memorial on the death of Emory B. Flower, makes report as follows:

Emory Bangs Flower was born in Springfield, Erie County, Pennsylvania, March 17, 1845, and died at Meadville on January 4, 1927. His early schooling was obtained in the public schools of Edinboro, Pa., and various other towns to which his father, the Reverend Josiah Flower, was assigned as a Methodist pastor.

In 1867, he entered Allegheny College from which he was graduated with the class of 1871. After graduation he registered as a student at law in the office of the Honorable Frank B. Ray, and was admitted to practice before the several Courts of Crawford County, on May 3, 1875.

He began the practice of his profession in the office of J. Ford Dorrance and for several years was connected with different law offices in Meadville.

He made his home with his sister, Miss Mary A. Flower, and except for a few years while they were attending college, the two were never separated until his death.

In 1888, he became Deputy Register and Recorder of Crawford County, under A. M. Dickson, which position he continued to occupy under the various administrations during the remainder of his lifetime.

It was in this capacity that he performed his greatest service for Crawford County and endeared himself to the bar and public generally. He brought to the office the fullest measure of his extraordinary ability and devoted himself to his duties with a painstaking thoroughness that was one of his chief characteristics. It is largely to his knowledge of the detail of the office and to his accuracy that our county is indebted for the excellent condition in which our public records are to be found.

He became an acknowledged authority on question of real estate and probate law, and his counsel was regarded as indispensable to the office by all of the officials with whom he served. His opinion on questions of law was constantly solicited by members of the bar and was always cheerfully given. He took an especial interest in the younger lawyers and was never too busy to listen to their problems and offer guidance and assistance.

He had a gentle disposition, a kindly humor, and an exalted conception of the duties of his employment, and his face will be missed from his accustomed corner of the Recorder's office for many years to come.
