Petition for decree under uniform declaratory judgment act.

And now, December 23, 1929, upon consideration of the foregoing petition and affidavit and upon motion of Fred L. Boland, Attorney for petitioner, the Court, in order to afford petitioner relief in respect to his rights, status and other legal relations growing out of the agreement referred to in the attached petition, grant a rule upon the New First National Bank of Meadville, Pa., and upon Frank D. Baird of Meadville, Pa.

(a) To show cause why the Court should not enter a declaratory judgment and decree construing the rights of petitioner to have returned to him the $500.00 given by him to the New First National Bank as the down payment in accordance with said agreement, and of petitioners right to receive a lawful rate of interest on said $500.00 from Frank D. Baird, one of the defendants herein, because of his refusal to release said money when the agreement became voided.

(b) To show cause why the Court should not enter a declaratory judgment and decree construing the rights and liabilities of the New First National Bank as Trustee or Escrow Agent for the parties in said agreement, if said bank pays over to the said John Joseph the said $500.00 now held by said bank;

(c) To show cause why the Court should not enter a declaratory judgment and decree that the said New First National Bank forthwith pay over to the said John Joseph the amount of money given by him to said bank as the down payment on said agreement, to wit, $500.00, and that said Frank D. Baird forthwith pay over to the said John Joseph a sum of money equal to six per cent interest on the amount of $500.00 from the 9th day of April until the date of the Courts decree. And that said Frank D. Baird pay the costs of this proceeding;

In Memoriam

John J. Henderson

Honorable John J. Henderson for twenty-six years a member of the Pennsylvania Superior Court of Appeals, died in Philadelphia Dec. 12, 1928 after a short illness of pneumonia. He was in his eighty-sixth year, having been born in Allegheny County, Sept. 23, 1843, the son of Reverend William C. and Eliza J. Henderson.

When a lad of about a dozen years his parents moved to Meadville. He attended the old Meadville Academy and Allegheny College, receiving a degree from the latter institution at an early age. He enlisted in the Union Army and served during the Civil War in Company K, 150th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, being mustered out of service in June, 1865.

He was present in Ford's Theatre in April of that year and witnessed the assassination of President Lincoln. He was able to recount the incidents of that tragic night, and after the fatal shot was fired saw Wilkes Booth leap from the box in which the President was seated on to the stage, fight his way to the rear of the theatre and make his escape.

He was admitted to the Crawford County Bar in 1867 and five years later was elected District Attorney. In 1887 he was elected President Judge of the Crawford County District, serving his full ten years. On March 11, 1903 Governor Pennypacker appointed Judge Henderson to the Superior Court. He was twice re-elected, receiving in his last election a plurality of about 760,000 votes. He was a trustee of Allegheny College and honored by his Alma Mater with the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Laws.

Judge Henderson was essentially a Meadville man. Although he served several years in

Resolutions

Of The Crawford County Bar Association, on the passing of Christian M. Boush.

Our late brother was born at Mundelsheim, Wurtemburg, Germany Mar. 19, 1831 and died at Meadville, Penn'a July 27, 1925. He emigrated to America in the early "fifties", having found it convenient to leave Germany, owing to his republican activities in 1848, following the example of the late Carl Schurtz. He was educated to be a merchant, and upon his arrival in this country, he secured a position as a clerk in a general store at Sheakleyville, Mercer County Penna. Where he began his study of the English Language.

Later he took up his residence in Meadville, and studied law under the late Henry C. Johnson, and was admitted to the Bar of Crawford County, June 11, 1868.

For a period of oder forty years, he was constantly employed as the attorney of the Board of Home Missions of the Reformed Church in the United States, in which labor he delighted and excelled. As a result of his wide experience in that especial field, he compiled and published in 1915 a volume, entitled "Rules of Law for Churches."

Always intensely interested in public affairs, he was intimately concerned in the founding of the Meadville City Hospital of which institution he was secretary and treasurer for a great many years. He was diligent and industrious in the practice of the law and whatever matters came to him, received the utmost care and fidelity. He was highly honorable and deeply religious which faith supported and carried him to the end. The passing of Christian M. Boush closed a very long and active career in the affairs of this community whose influence will long be remembered.

Honorable E. W. McArthur

Hon. E. W. McArthur was born in South Shenango Township, Crawford County, Pennsylvania on July 10, 1853. After finishing the grade schools he moved to Meadville in 1881 and as a young man, undertook the study of law in the office of J. B. Brawley, Esq. He was admitted to practice and became a members of the Crawford County Bar on Feb. 25, 1884. He was an ardent Democrat and took a great interest in all Party politics and Party affairs; and two years later, in 1886, was appointed Postmaster by President Grover Cleveland, which office he held for four years. On February 15, 1898, he was elected Mayor serving for three years until 1901.

As a lawyer, he was diligent to the interests of his clients, painstaking, conscientious and upright. He was a man whose genial disposition made him a host of friends; and he was always happiest when in the company of some loved and chosen friends, regaling them with stories, reminiscences, as well as music. He early learned to play the violin, from which he took a great deal of pleasure and fun, especially delighting his friends and himself with old-fashioned tunes and melodies.

Mr McArthur was a man who was devoted to his wife & family and his home was the place where he found solitude, happiness and contentment.

His relations with his fellow members of the Bar Association were courteous and pleasant and in the passing of Emmett N. McArthur, the entire community, as well as the Crawford County Bar Association has suffered a great loss.

A. M. Jenner

A. M. Jenner was born near Steamburg, this County on Apr. 30, 1851 and died Jan. 21, 1929. He was a son of Delany and Morgan Jenner. He was educated at Edinboro Normal School and as a young man was engaged in the drug business in Linesville, Pa. He was married to Eva Cunningham on May 13, 1880 and their married life was always beautiful and happy. He followed the calling of the drug business for a number of years; when he sought to better his condition in life by a more thorough education and became interested in the study of law at the age of forty years. He entered the law office of the late Joshua Douglas where he read law, and was admitted to the Bar of Crawford County, on June 2nd, 1896 and was admitted to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on October 13, 1903.

One of the outstanding things in the career of Mr Jenner was the fact that he had the will and determination to undertake the study of law when over forty years of age for not many people at that time of life feel that they can change their vocation or calling, and it shows that a man is never too old to take up a different line of work if he make up his mind to do so.

He served for many years as a Justice of Peace and was known, not only in his own community but throughout the County for being a man of strict integrity and fair dealing, and he secured a fair clientele of persons who trusted him to loan their money, to write their Wills, and to do their legal business. He also sought to serve his clients by keeping them out of Court as far as possible.

He was an active member of the Order of Free and Accepted Masons and also the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and was always willing to lend a helping hand toward the furtherance of the aims and objects of these Orders. His removal is a distinct loss to the Bar and to a large circle of friends, and there have been few men who have been so highly regarded in their communities as he. It is proper also to say

To the Honorable O. Clare Kent, P. J. of Crawford County.

The committee appointed to prepare an appropriate resolution upon the death of our departed fellow-member, John A. Northam submits the following:

John A. Northam, son of Edward & Nancy Hamilton Northam was born in Meadville, Pa. Sept. 21, 1864 and died there Jan. 30, 1928.

He was educated in the public schools of Meadville and graduated from High School.

He first registered as a law student in the office of Judge John J. Henderson in 1883, but later on registered with W. R. On Sept 18, 1901, he was married to Gertrude A. Lockhart, who survives him.

He was greatly interested in the welfare and prosperity of the Meadville City Hospital, and for many years was Secretary of its Board of Trustees, giving freely of his time, energy and ability in his great loyalty and interest in the hospital. In this he followed in the footsteps of his father, who for many years was active in behalf of his beloved hospital.

He was a man of positive convictions on all public matters, and took a lively interest therein, and he was not controlled in his views by public clamor.

He was of a most happy and cheerful disposition, always enjoying a joke and being very fond of telling stories, and always made those with whom he came in contact feel more cheerful, brighter and happier.

While he was not as active as some members of the Bar in trial of cases before the Court, he was a splendid counsellor, and a wise adviser, the Army, and for twenty-six years on the Superior Court, the duties of which called him to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh much of the time, yet he had a genuine love for the City of his adoption. He was closely identified with our civic achievement, and took an active part in all movements for the betterment and up-building of our institutions. He was counted a friend by thousands. He was a man of unusual legal ability, with a mind keen to dissect the niceties of a legal problem and a fine judicial bearing. He was above all else a man of good judgment, mental sobriety and wisdom. He was devoted to high ideals. Of such elements does true greatness consist.

As was said so truly of him at the time of his death- "those who intelligently love the land which he served so well can only hope, in their sorrow for their loss, that the time may never come when America will be lacking in men of the type of Judge Henderson, citizen-sovereigns whose hearts are as stout and true as their minds are clear, well trained and well poised.

On thy cold gray stones, O Sea!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me

O well for the fisherman's boy,
That he shouts with his sister at play!
O well for the sailor lad,
That he sings in his boat on the bay!

And the stately ships go on
To their haven under the hill;
But O for the touch of a vanish'd hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still and a most careful practitioner in the preparation of all his legal papers. He was ever loyal to his friends and a man of absolute integrity to his clients.

He was a lover of nature and of the woods, and we all know of the beauty of his garden and of his many flowers.

He was a great lover of children, a good husband, a loyal friend and a most likable man.

His passing has left a feeling of sorrow and regret with many members of the Bar who were his close associates and warm friends.

Of No 33 May Dr. 1930.

midst, at the age of 79 years, five months and twenty-nine days.

Mr. McClintock was stricken with paralysis Jan. 25, 1925, and from that date he was unable to resume his practice, and the greater part of the time he was confined to his home on Walnut St. For this reason his death was not wholly unexpected and yet we had become so used to his pleasant smile as he greeted us from his porch that the final report of his death was a shock even to those most familiar with his physical condition. During his entire affliction he exhibited the same courage that was so pronounced throughout his entire life, and through all his suffering, he wore the same friendly smile.

The life of our subject may well be divided into three periods: first, the preparatory period; second, the active period; third, the period of reflection.

Under normal conditions, it is asserted by high authority that real character building takes place during the first fifteen years of life. How true in this case! The hardships, and disappointments of farm life in those days did not strike terror and rebellion into the heart of this farmer boy, but served rather as our present teachers of the old maxim, labor omnia vincit. It was on the farm he laid the foundation for his success. Here he acquired the habit of industry which was so marked throughout his entire career and along with it the power of observation. Here he developed the remarkable physique, that enabled him in after life to apply himself almost constantly to the most difficult tasks without sign of fatigue. Here he started his student life. His close communion with Mother Nature, herself, from day to day, gave him a broader outlook upon life, and helped him to establish at an early period his true relation to the outside world. Here is the real key to success.

Throughout his college course, he was an outstanding athlete. Later he was catcher for the Meadville Mutuals. Many here present can even now see him standing behind the home plate, without mask or glove, as he seemed to take the ball from off the striker's bat, and throw it over the pitcher's box straight into the hands of the second

Again we see him stand erect, every muscle tense, as he wields the mighty club and then scampers around the diamond for a home run.

With such a foundation his professional success was assured. Industry with him was not an effort, but a habit. He was indefatigable in his search for the truth. He was noted for his studious habits, his courage and fair dealing. One need only look at the records in the Prothonotary's Office during his employment there, for evidence of his neatness and painstaking methods. Here again he exercised his powers of observation and brought to bear his keen analytical mind. We have reason to believe he studied and compared the pleadings of the best practitioners at the bar, for in no ordinary way could he have acquired the skill which he possessed as a pleader. It may truly be said that he was the ablest pleader that ever practiced at the Crawford County Bar. His pleadings excelled in completeness, smoothness and accuracy of expression these to be found in almost any standard form book.

The firm of Brawley and McClintock occupied a leading position at this bar during its entire duration and likewise the firm of Haskins & McClintock. A casual examination of the reports of the Appellate Courts during those periods will show the success of these firms.

Mr. McClintock did not receive the credit justly due him by reason of his willingness to stay in the background in all court work. This gave the other member of his firm an unjust share of praise for their success. He did not fear to meet an adversary in court, because he knew the law and he knew how to state it. No one could achieve his success as a pleader without knowing the law.

Geo. W. Haskins and John O. McClintock were a great team. Both students; both untiring workers; both firmly grounded in the fundamentals of the law; both courageous; both possessed the rare power of accurate expression. Yet with all this, they were most unlike. So much so that they seemed to attract each other like opposing magnets.

We desire to see in the life and work of Mr. McClintock, certain characteristics possessed by his illustrious preceptor, the late Hon. John J. Henderson. It is a most strange coincidence that at this very time a memorial should be presented upon the death of student and preceptor. Mr. Anderson was noted for his beautiful diction and clear expression both as a writer and speaker. Mr. McClintock possessed to a marked degree the same power as a writer.

In the later years of Mr. McClintock's life, we observe a marked change. These were years of reflection when life seemed to have an entirely different meaning. Rich in experience and ripe in wisdom, he now fully appreciated the pleasures of his boyhood days; When he roamed the fields with sister and brother and at night felt the caress of a mother's tender love. He could now smile at adversity, for he had caught the true meaning of life. He was at peace with the whole world. Each day he capitalized the love and affections of his host of friends.

Mr. McClintock was deeply interested in the welfare of the community. He was a conservative, and a firm believer in a strict interpretation of the United States Constitution. A man of exemplary habits, and yet considerate of the rights and wishes of his fellowmen. He possessed sound judgment and was never found among the ranks of sentimentalists. He was fearless and was never known to desert a cause because it was unpopular.

He found the reward of life in its opportunity for service. He accepted life with an open mind, a steadfast will, and as a real joy. His life had length, breadth, and depth.

Above all he was a true friend, and a Christian gentleman, ready to lend his assistance to any worthy cause.

In his death the community has lost a faithful citizen, this Bar an ablet lawyer, and each member a true friend.

We request that this minute be spread upon the records, there to repose amid those of his own hand, as a humble and final tribute of the members of this Bar to one we loved and cherished, and we suggest that a copy be sent to the members of his family as an expression of our sympathy in this hour of their sore bereavement.

Respectfully submitted
